ADDS TO MYSTERY

Mrs. Nellie Harris Leonard, divorced wife of George C. Leonard, Harvard fight for Leonard's fortune, led by Hallen, is being probed in connection with the murder.

2 MYSTERY WOMEN LINKED TO MAINE SLAYING

Today in a new swirling role, this time in Massachusetts, where, in South Sudbury, an automobile driven by a Mrs. Walker, proprietor at the Oatfield House, Warehouse Point, Ct., was seized by state police and a representative of the Boston automobile company.

Mrs. Walker's car was standing at a roadside inn at South Sudbury. She declared she had purchased the car in Connecticut and was en route to Connecticut without having first said for it.

TO PROBE DIVORCE. And still another angle was revealed when County Attorney Ingalls said he would go to Los Angeles and probe the divorce of George C. Leonard from Nellie Harris Leonard at about ten years ago, and Leonard's subsequent marriage to Benjamin Turner.

Ingalls declared that Hallen, who had been in the case, was a representative of the first Mrs. Leonard when she sought to break the will.

The assertion of Ingalls is, however, that Hallen devoted most of his efforts in this connection to finding means for more expensive money and additional fees.

Mrs. Leonard, 47, was with known in Portland and Calais. She was a church choir singer in each city.

County Attorney Ingalls announced today when he conferred with County Attorney Ingalls.

After the two officials visited Turner at the jail.

TO REVEAL ALL PAPERS. In connection with the "mystery woman" angle of the strange case, County Attorney Ingalls announced that as a first step toward clearing up the mystery he would seize all of Hallen's personal papers.

These will be examined and checked between now and next Tuesday, when the case will be officially presented to the Cumberland County grand jury.

Through inspection of papers, it is hoped that some clue to the real identity of the murderer, Turner, will be turned up.

Questioned as to how strongly the woman of mystery figured in the case, Attorney Ingalls was reticent. He said, however, that certain evidence had been brought to him from outside sources which warranted the authorities at least bringing her to Portland for questioning.

The county attorney said he could not conceive of a man traveling 3,000 miles to take the life of a man simply because the second man had left the first in jail for two years.

"SOME OTHER MOTIVE" "There is some other motive in this affair," declared Ingalls. "We will keep on until we have found the real motive for the crime. We have no hesitancy in saying that a woman is involved in the case and it is simply a question of finding her before we will have the mystery solved."

Although her husband has been

"Turner Killed for Me," Declares Woman

Portland, Me., Sept. 10.—There was a woman in the case of the new Monte Cristo who brooded over his wrongs for years in a Mexican prison—then journeyed 3,000 miles to kill the man responsible.

No sweetheart of Turner's, stolen from him by the girl-tongued swindler of fortune, James D. Hallen, was this woman, but a silver-haired, middle-aged, converted woman of sixty-five—Mrs. Constance Kilborn of No. 110 Oak street.

After his court hearing, Turner begged that he be allowed to see Mrs. Kilborn, who had come to his rescue a few years ago when he was incarcerated in a Mexican jail and Hallen, his counsel, had walked off with the money.

"Mother, you know why I did it; it was not for myself," he whined.

"And I know why he did it," she said today from the depths of her invalid's chair, in a Boston Evening America reporter.

FREED FROM PRISON. "He killed Hallen not because Hallen had wronged him, but because Hallen had robbed me and I had saved him from a living death in a Mexican prison."

"Three years ago I went to Mexico City to see about some property interest in them amounting to $10,000. I had been induced to make the investment by Hallen who, at that time, I trusted implicitly."

"Then Hallen told me of Benjamin Turner. I went to see him. He was lying in that filthy prison, a shed, the men about him covered with vermin."

I helped secure his release and after three days I received a letter of joy and gratitude. We exchanged frequent letters until finally he told me he was seeking to get into communication with Hallen. By this time I had discovered that Hallen had swindled me.

DEATH FOR ROBBERY. "My entire fortune was gone save the draft for $10,000. I believed at least had this nest egg, but then I was confronted with a draft marked 'paid' and signed by me. I had never signed off the draft, nor had I ever received a cent of the money."

"I carried the case to the Supreme Court of the state and only within a few weeks was the verdict returned against me."

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 10 (A.P.)—Fifteen beauties remained today of 13 competitors for the 1926 title of "Miss America" and these faced reduction to five in the afternoon and to the winner tonight.

There were three favorites in the list. These were the winners in an evening gown contest last night: Miss Truitt, Ohio; Miss Shalwood, South Carolina; Miss Givens, New York (Guthrie K. Patterson).

girls are also available to the investigators.

All business done by the corporation in Boston is done by the Massachusetts company. The West Virginia corporation is the "paper company" and, according to California law, all money received is promptly turned over to it.

Attorney Tamm E. Hall for the company argued that the local authorities had no right to step in and interfere with the company's business by making daily use of books relating to its business all over the United States and throughout the world.

"Warren Brothers Company is not a monopoly, its paying material is a patented product," said Hall during his argument, indicating a possible reply of the company to the indictment which charges conspiracy to maintain high prices.

A Justice Raymond said he would decide any dispute over the admissibility of any books or records by calling in an impartial accountant to determine their nature.

Charles D. Koenig, president of the city council and candidate for Republican nomination as district attorney, was again at the courthouse today under summons to testify in the probe.

MERTON TELS OF GOLD GIFTS AT 'BRIBE CASE' DINNER

soon thereafter gave King a check for that amount drawn on the Chase National Bank.

CHEAPER THAN LAWYER. Merton said he had not seen the cancelled check, but he knew that it had been cashed.

Merton is the government's star witness in the trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney-General, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, for conspiracy to defraud the United States of the transfer of the $100,000.

John T. King, who died soon after the first indictment in the case was returned, is detained by the government to have "pulled the strings" in the deal.

In telling of a dinner he gave to Miller and Smith at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Merton said he gave each of his three guests a gift certificate as an souvenir. Two bottles of champagne were consumed, he said.

Merton said he got the services of King because he thought it would be less expensive than hiring a lawyer. King was once Republican national committeeman for Massachusetts and one of the most influential practical politicians in the Republican party at the time of these aspects.

HELD $7,000,000 PARTY. Telling of the actual transfer of the $7,000,000, Merton testified that at a champagne dinner in a private room at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in this city, Miller handed him two checks totaling about $7,000,000.

He could not fix the date of the dinner. The government alleged it took place on September 20, 1921.

Merton told of his trip to Washington, where he discussed with Miller his proposal for the return of the $7,000,000 to the Allen claimants, whom Merton represented as agent.

The move for return of the money was made on behalf of the Societe Suisse Pour Valeurs de Matraz, a Swiss company.

Subsidiary of the Merton interests, organized in Switzerland in 1910 as a holding company for the interests of the German family.

"Roxie" Stinson in New York to Attend Trial New York, Sept. 10 (A.P.)—Roxie Stinson, who was divorced from Jesse W. Smith before he committed suicide in Washington, is in New York to attend the bribery trial of the man who lifted her husband from operation of a small town general store to participation in mysterious political deals in the nation's capital.

Mrs. Stinson testified before the Grand Jury that indicted former Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty and former alien property custodian Thomas W. Miller, but Federal Attorney Emory R. Fackler has indicated that he will not ask her to testify against them in the trial now in progress.

The presence of the divorced wife of Daugherty's onetime rival husband was revealed after a day's recess for the Jewish New Year. She acknowledged that she had attended the first day's taking of testimony Wednesday, uninvited in the crowd.

She refused to say whether she expected to take the stand in the trial she has consistently refused to reveal what she told the Grand Jury that indicted Daugherty, Miller and John T. King, who died a week later. She made startling disclosures as to Smith's connection with Daugherty before a Senate committee two years ago, however.

To Bob or Not to Bob, That Is the Question

Philadelphia, Sept. 10 (A.P.)—Bobbed hair promises to be the subject of spirited discussion at the annual convention of the hairdressers and beauty culturists of the country here next week.

Debate will center chiefly around the question as to whether bobbed hair styles are beneficial or injurious to the hairdressing trade, a question over which the delegates were said to be nearly equally divided.

DIES OF BLOW WITH MOP

One man is dead and another is under arrest as the result of what police say was a mugging at the heart of the Eastern Market Pier in Atlantic avenue.

Joseph Pustis, thirty-three, of Joy street, died today in the Haymarket Relief Hospital of a fractured skull, inflicted, according to police, by the blow of a mop.

Harry Doran, twenty-two, of Francis street, Haven, employee of a fish market in Atlantic avenue, surrendered to police a few hours after Pustis died. Doran was booked as a "suspicious person," and taken to police headquarters for questioning.

Pustis was knocked unconscious by a blow with the mop, and was taken to the hospital in an ambulance from Francis street station.

Doran surrendered when two Boston men went to the market where he is employed. Police say Pustis was arguing with a group in front of the market when Doran, who was wringing out the mop, told them to move on.

Pustis reacted the order and according to police someone in the crowd shouted, "Look out. He has a knife."

When he attempted to strike Doran, according to the information given to police, he was killed by the mop.

OSGOOD NAMES LOVE RIVAL

Portland, Me., Sept. 10.—The legal battle of Dr. Charles Osgood, millionaire physician of New York and Windham, Me., to regain the custody of his son, Henry, ten, from his divorced wife, Mrs. Loretta M. Osgood, took an unexpected turn when he charged in evidence she shared her Parisian apartment with a French count.

Written testimony of a maid employed by Mrs. Osgood in Paris following the divorce was offered, to show that Count Jean F. V. Hermet, a former member of the French diplomatic corps, moved in his belongings a few days after she rented the suite. Dr. Osgood seeks to vacate a decree giving his wife $400 monthly alimony.

GOSSIPER'S TONGUE

DEVIL BACK OF HALL SLAYING, SAYS SUNDAY

By W.D. Sunday
(The Rev. "Billy" Sunday)
A soldier back from France quotes a proverb that he heard there very often. "The more it changes, the more it's the same thing." I don't know just how the French use that proverb. But if they refer to sin THEY ARE RIGHT. There are ten thousand varieties of sin, from murder down to petty deceit. And for all we know murder may not be the worst of them.

Nero setting fire to Rome, small boys stealing apples, a man stealing a horse, a crowd in anger hanging the horse thief, a grand Turk keeping five hundred wives, when one would be more than enough for him; a miser piling up money with starving children at his door—there is no limit to the different kinds of sin.

But they all have the same maligning. There are a million kinds of watches, but a malapropos of every one of them and THE DEVIL.

The Devil—I don't call him Satan, I prefer the real name—is very busy. Continued on Page 14, Column 1.

AUTUMN IS DUE HERE TONIGHT

The vanguard of Autumn, according to the weather bureau, will blow in Greater Boston tonight.

The New England outpost of the season's Fall will effect a 10 to 15-degree drop in temperature hereabout to the accompaniment of moderate waves of moderate to fresh northwest and north winds.

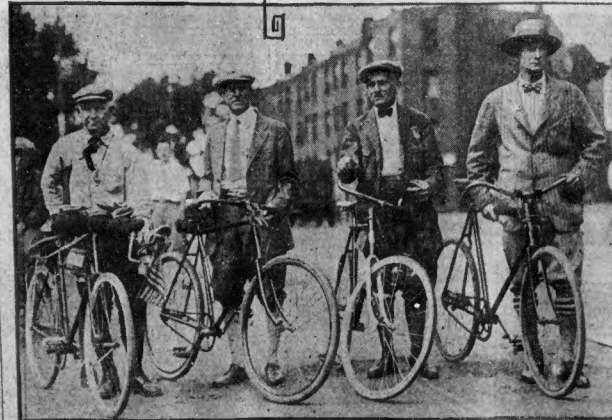

Cold weather has already laid the northern half of the continent of the West and Middle West where, over the past twenty-four hours, the mercury has slumped from 13 to 20 degrees.

The average temperature early today throughout Indiana, Ohio and contiguous States was 55 degrees above.

Forecast for Boston and vicinity: Fair tonight and Saturday, cooler tonight, moderate to fresh north-west and north winds.

BRIDEGROOM HELD FOR HONEYMOON AUTO THEFT

A bridegroom of less than a week, James H. Courtney, 45, of West Newton, was arraigned in Brighton today charged with larceny of his honeymoon auto. According to police Courtney purchased an expensive new car a week ago and gave a check on a New York bank. The check was said to be worthless and state police arrested him. They also charged him with a check on the same bank to the State motor vehicle registry. Courtney told Judge Connolly there was some mistake. He said he had a joint account at the New York bank and wished to go there and straighten the matter out. The case was continued to September 17.

'END ALL WAR!' SAYS GERMANY

The first act of the German declaration, as a member of the League, was to suggest that (inasmuch as Germany has been declared in accordance with the Versailles treaty) the cause of peace would be furthered by general disarmament.

"Complete disarmament of Germany is stipulated by the Treaty of Versailles as a condition of general disarmament and I hope that peace will be achieved through this and of general disarmament," said Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German foreign minister, and head of the Reichstag assembly.

The current foundation of peace is the policy of mutual respect among the nations.

Even before her entrance into the League Germany had endorsed a "peace with a sense of justice" as a condition. This is proven by Germany's initiative in the peace of Locarno and the arbitration pact which Germany has concluded with almost all of her neighbors. Germany is determined to pursue this policy.

The German delegation was welcomed in a democratic spirit by Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, and other Premier and other statesmen of the League of Nations.

For France this day means we are finished with war.

"There will be no more war," said Briand.

"There will be no more mourning and no more grief. We have found a common judge and we will go to court together."

No longer do we regard cannon as our last vengeance.

We need no more demonstrate of brooms. Neither does Germany. We have had enough of the battlefield to satisfy both of us.

U.S. EX-CABINET MAN IN MEXICO

Mexico City, Sept. 10 (I.N.R.)—A former United States cabinet officer, located on the political horizon today as Mexico's "man of mystery," is the subject of miniature Cabinet discussions in the Senate.

Blaine is a Democrat in the red sense of the word, although in the Republican party. He is an uncomfortable person who runs by the numbers and figures millions that live and work in it, but by the law that runs the big checks. Such a man will always be a Democrat as well as a Republican in the Senate.

There is a lot of money. Wall Street was happy yesterday. Street was in quite flat rubber. "It's all right," said Mr. Blaine, smiling. "I'm not a Republican, but I'm a Democrat."

Mr. Blaine, meeting three-and-a-half million dollars, offered only $10 per cent. interest. The whole issue was overhauled in advance.

New York, Sept. 10 (I.N.R.)—An earthquake disturbance of four hours' duration was recorded on the seismograph of Northrup University today. The first tremor was felt at 8:44 a. m. and the shocks reached the greatest intensity at 9 a. m. Tremors of the disturbance were noticeable on the seismograph until after 10 o'clock.

The quake was about 6,000 miles distant, and in a southeasterly direction. Officials of the institution placed the quake in the vicinity of one of the numerous islands in the southern part of the Pacific Ocean.

Pueblo, Colo., Sept. 10 (A.P.)—The dream of every American schoolboy—that on the first day of school he would burn with burning heat toward "improvement" only in fact, the school house gone—has been fulfilled for a few people at Pueblo school, 10 miles north.

The schoolhouse had been burned. It had vanished. After an hour of searching, a conscientious teacher found it on the farm of A. J. Price with the following sign attached: "Private Property—No Trespassing."

Price moved the building because of some controversy within the ranks of the school board.

7 DIE AS GALE HITS WEST

Chicago, Sept. 10 (A.P.)—The Central West counted seven deaths and caused $2 million in property and crop loss today in the flooded wake of the third visitation with ten days of storms of exceptional fury. Industry and agriculture were again a standard in many localities paralyzed into complete inactivity by floods which swept lands and factories alike.

In Central Indiana and Illinois the torrential rain and lightning were more damaging in their effect than last week's storm; from which a broad area from Ohio to Nebraska was only beginning to recover before the fresh onslaught.

A clearing storm and forecast of warmer weather promised relief today and strengthened hopes that the peak of the downpours had been reached Wednesday night, although the weather bureau hinted a return of unsettled conditions tomorrow.

3 SHUT IN 2 CRASHES, DUE TO TRUCKS

Two automobile crashes, each involving three machines, occurred at the same point in Rensselaer today within twenty minutes resulting in injuries to three men.

In the first, a fifteen-cylinder truck driven by Arthur Kavana of No. 44 Center street, Norwood, dropped its drive shaft while rolling down the steep hill of Washington street approaching Albany street.

The brakes went out of operation and Kavana's frantic efforts to stop the truck were fruitless.

Half way down the hill the truck caught the fifteen, driven by Harold J. Jenkins of No. 103 Marion street, Soughton, picked it off the pavement and carried it, lurching wildly, down the hill.

At Albany and Washington streets the careening truck, carrying the battered fifteen with Jenkins jammed in his seat, advanced the automobile of William H. Fulton standing in front of his home, No. 424 Washington street, tearing away a midair.

Then the truck and fifteen jumped the sidewalk, ripped off a mail box and crashed into a house.

Jenkins was cut out of the wreckage of tin and splintered wood and sent to the Forest Hills hospital for treatment, going home from there, Kavana's cuts and bruises were treated in the drug store.

Before the wreckage of the crash had been cleared away another fifteen truck, loaded with apples, shingles and driven by John J. Hudson of No. 265 Washington street, East Walpole, came booming down over the same steep hill.

According to the police the truck was out of gear, it ran out of control and it was coming. At Albany street the truck crashed a fifteen driven by Michael J. Martin of No. 28 Lawrence street, Roxbury, hitting the fifteen against a mail truck driven by Edie Bette of Atwell avenue, Providence.

Martin was cut and bruised in the crash, but was treated at the drugstore.

After the crash the Rensselaer truck continued down the hill for half a mile before being turned.

When it was finally stopped, Hudson crawled beneath it and a police pin had ripped out of his leg making him unable to walk.

ADDRESSING A STREET CROWD INFORMALLY

DANIEL J. KANE

The candidate for Democratic nomination for District Attorney is seen on running board of auto.

CAMPING, ON EAST CP, S FULL OF FIRE

The whistled wind-up of the primary campaign began today.

William J. Foley, candidate for the Democratic nomination for district attorney, addressed a noon rally at Commonwealth Pier, Attorney William C. Frost, also a candidate for that nomination, spoke at Jamaica Plain, George E. Froug, candidate for the Democratic nomination for sheriff, made two appearances at Jamaica Plain and the other at Fenkenham square.

KEILHER TRAITOR

Denouncing his opponent, Sheriff Keilher, as a traitor to the party who delivered the city into Republican hands last November, Councilor George H. Curran, candidate for the Democratic nomination, for sheriff, invaded Fenkenham square with his campaigner, Teddy Glynn.

Both Curran and Glynn delivered addresses ringing with assurance of victory over Keilher in the Tuesday primary. Curran, speaking up like a courier in preparation for a wind-whistled Saturday night at the Oval, House in Fenkenham square from Jamaica Plain where he continued his hammering attack on Keilher before workers of the Plant hose factory.

Curran in his East Boston rally told 4,000 people that he would do it Keilher by 40,000 votes. In his address to shop workers today, he said:

"A BEATEN MAN"

"The landslide rally at East Boston gave Mr. Keilher the last proof that he is a beaten man. His own self has admitted defeat. His campaign has broken down. He knows that the thousands of Democrats who watched him deliver the city in Republican hands last November were convinced that all traitors to the party must be severely punished. And they have begun with Keilher."

Foley speaking at the rally at Commonwealth Pier, refuted charges of his opponents that he is a tool of a political clique as a false malicious charge. He said:

"I am no man's candidate, but I am the candidate of every decent Democratic man and woman residing in this country. Not once in my entire career have I worn the label of any boss or so-called leader. In every contest it has been Bill Foley and the people fighting bosses."

O'BRIEN CALLED G. O. P.

At the Jamaica Plain rally, William H. McDonald and Daniel J. Gilson, president of the Tammany Club, urged Foley to elect and attacked District Attorney O'Brien's record as "inefficient and Republican."

Attorney William C. Frost, Democratic candidate for nomination for district attorney, at the Jamaica Plain rally, declared that the fight for that nomination now turns down to a contest between himself and William J. Foley. Frost asserted that he represents the independent voters while Foley is backed by the Irish-Nichols-Kennebecs and their Democratic allies.

TRYING TO SPILT VOTE.

"The same group who divided the Democratic vote of Boston last Winter and brought about the election of a Republican mayor is diligently at work attempting to bring about the election of a Republican district attorney."

$1,000,000 RUM CARGO

AND SHIP SEIZED BY U. S.

Portulante of the ocean-going steamship Crean and her 80,000-gallon cargo of alcohol, valued at $1,000,000, is sought by the government in action filed in Federal District Court today by Asst. U. S. Attorney George H. Farnum. The vessel, ostensibly engaged in the paper waste freight business, was valued on July 6 at Battery Wharf by customs agents.

KILLED IN DEFENSE

OF GIRL COMPANIONS

Chester, Pa., Sept. 10 (A.P.)—Intensive search was being made today for two masked negroes who shot and killed nineteen-year-old Walter Harden, of Chester, when he attempted to shield two girl companions on a lonely road near Bridge water.

The shooting occurred, police were told, when two masked negroes drew up in a touring car beside the automobile in which the girl Harden and William Hamilton, another Chester youth, were sitting. The negroes ordered the girls to alight. When Harden attempted to resist the men, he was shot twice through the chest.

HOT-WATER BAGS ALSO

CAN RELIEVE THIRST IF—

High-voltage liquor in hot-water bags is the latest stunt of wary opponents of the 18th amendment; the police liquor squad discovered, after chasing Joseph S. Ignazio all over East Boston and finally bagging him with an auto containing 60 gallons of moonshine. Turned away in some burp-bags were five 2-quart rubber hot-water bags loaded to the neck with booze. Rescued nearby were a half-dozen tins each containing a gallon of illicit beverage, police said.

JOAN BENNETT IS TO WED MILLIONAIRE'S SON

New York, Sept. 10 (Universal)—Joan is the latest of the theatrical family of Bennetts to marry.

Joan, the baby of the family and the only one who up to now had not had a colorful love career, will be married in Chelsea, England, to John Martin Fox, son of a California millionaire, it became known today.

She is the daughter of Richard Bennett, the actor, and Adrienne Morrison, who is equally well known in the stage.

3 JEWEL ROBBERS HELD IN $900,000 BONDS

Champlain, Sept. 10 (U.S.N.S.)—Three Illinois Central railroad robbers, arrested less than 13 hours after they staged one of the heaviest holdups in $200,000 bonds and three charges of robbery with a gun at 2 a. m. court session today.

A dramatic feature of the hearing was the identification of Oliver A. Love, one of the trio, as the alleged hired killer of a Chicago gang of alcohol runners, who came here a year ago to "get" Sheriff John Gray—the man who effected the capture after the jewel robbery.

CONFESSES TO BEING AT SCENE OF HALL-MILLS KILLING

was in the Y. M. C. A. in New Brunswick until 10 p. m. and at that hour he declined to meet Miss Russell outside the Y. M. C. A. building. She drove her to her home, in the middle of the street, and then went to her own residence. She drove up to the time he left her home.

Miss Russell and Miss Russell were taken to the scene of the crime late yesterday as part of their examination. The attitude of the authorities in day indicated they believed solution of the Hall-Mills murder mystery was near.

DRAW PANEL FOR JURY.

Meanwhile final steps were being taken for drawing a panel for a Grand Jury to hear the Hall-Mills evidence. A list of 125 names will be put in a jury wheel here at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The first thirty-five names drawn will constitute the panel for the September Grand Jury. From these names will to draw the twenty-three who will be chosen to form the Grand Jury.

There have been three arrests so far in the Hall-Mills case. Those arrested were Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, her brother, "Willie" Stevens and her cousin, Henry De La Bruyere.

Inspector Underwood announced that both Caroline and Miss Russell admitted that on the night of the double murder they were in George Hall's car, within 500 feet of the crime scene, on the Phillips farm, under which the bodies were found, when they heard shots, screams and voices.

STORY OF FATAL NIGHT.

Underwood quoted Caroline as saying:

"I left home and went to the Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock that night. I stayed there until 10 o'clock, and then left with the intention of going home. On the way I met Miss Russell as she was coming out of the Y. M. C. A. building."

"I offered to drive her home and she got in my car. We drove to Landing Avenue and then into College Avenue and then we drove to De Russell's lane."

"We heard a shot and then a pause, and then three more shots. Between the first and second shots we heard a woman scream. After the second shot it seemed to be a man who came out of the house and then it seemed to die out."

"This shot and the scream seemed to come from the direction of the Phillips farm. After that I drove home, and arrived at about 11:30. Caroline was asked what time it was when she heard the shots. She said about 11:30 p. m. He was asked when he next saw Miss Russell."

ADMITTED ON SECRET.

"The next Sunday morning," he replied, according to Underwood, "it was in church. I think I spoke to her and we agreed not to mention anything about the shooting."

Under questioning he said he saw a car in De Russell's lane. It was coming out as he drove in. "I didn't recognize the occupants of the car and I couldn't tell the name of the car was," he said.

Caroline said it was about 11:30 p. m. when he and Miss Russell drove to the first little lane off De Russell's lane, and parked their car. "I heard voices," he said, "muffled voices. They seemed like people's voices. They seemed to come from down back of the Phillips farm. My car was pointed toward the Phillips farm, and the voices seemed to be directly in front of us. We were there about ten minutes."

FIRST VISIT IN LANE.

Caroline later contradicted himself when asked again when was the next time he saw Miss Russell after the night they had parked their car in De Russell's lane. He at first said it was on the following Sunday, as church. He changed this statement to this:

"The next time I saw Miss Russell was on Saturday afternoon, the day the bodies were discovered. It was about 2:30 p. m. When I, my daughter Jean and my cousin, Harold Pick, and Miss Russell went to the scene of the crime. I called for Miss Russell and we drove to the Phillips farm. I parked my car on the lane and we walked to the crime scene, where the bodies were found."

"I did say to her that I had turned on my headlights on Thursday night we would have seen something."

ADMITTED ON SECRET.

"The next Sunday morning," he replied, according to Underwood, "it was in church. I think I spoke to her and we agreed not to mention

JERRY THE POLE CAN'T GET BAIL

Jerry Gaudin, alias "Jerry the Pole," was arrested today by Judge William A. Burpee.

The charges against Gaudin were murder in connection with the shooting of Edward C. Rose, driver for the Central Truck Company at Cambridge.

Rose died under a hail of bullets from the arms of a "big" band that held up the bank car a year ago. When Rose and two fellow workers were delivering a payroll to the Ward Baking Co. plant in Cambridge.

All the recommendation of Assistant District Attorney Russell today, Judge Byrne recommended Gaudin to the East Cambridge Jail without bail to await trial.

the same things that Mrs. Jane O'Brien, the so-called "big woman," had heard. She had many times had the authorities at the crime, had heard screams and moaning. After statements coincide with what I saw and heard while I was in the lane," Gaudin said.

Inspector Underwood then gave out statements he said were made by Miss Russell. One was made on Wednesday, and the second was made yesterday. The latter contained information which was not in the first.

Miss Russell admitted, after questioning on Wednesday, that she and Inspector Underwood then gave out statements he said were made by Miss Russell. One was made on Wednesday, and the second was made yesterday. The latter contained information which was not in the first.

By a coincidence, the shooting occurred at that moment, she said. This statement was shown to Gaudin the same day. He made another admission but added nothing.

Under further questioning yesterday, Miss Russell amplified her story, and then Caroline made a similar amplification. They had been questioned separately.

Both admitted the car had been parked in a side lane, off De Russell's lane, for ten or fifteen minutes on the night of the murder.

"The young people of today are generally unhappy," said Dean Lucy Jenkins Franklin, of Boston University, in an address here at the annual conference of general school instructors at Framingham today. OFF TO GREET M'MILLAN

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 10.—A dozen boats left here today to meet Donald MacMillan, Arctic explorer who is scheduled to arrive at Christmas Cove before midnight. Scores of relatives and friends of MacMillan and other members of the expedition were on the boats and no official welcome is planned.

The expedition ships, Bowdoin and Steamer, left New York harbor early today. Reports received here indicate that the three women and twenty-three men who have just completed their Arctic trip are in good health and happy to get back to Maine shores.

MacMillan is timing his trip so as to be here for the official reception at noon tomorrow. The reception committee is headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, former assistant secretary of the navy. MacMillan has been attempting for Gov. Brewster in several parts of the State, but will be on hand early tomorrow to welcome MacMillan.

MEXICAN CATHOLICS ARE DYING SPIRITUAL DEATH

San Francisco, Sept. 19 (I.N.S.)—Mexican Catholics are dying a spiritual death, according to Rev. Emilio Boccardo, a Jesuit priest, the first to arrive here from Mexico since religious activities ceased in the southern republic. Father Boccardo, a native of Genoa, Italy, presided over a paragon at Tepic in the state of Nayarit.

Father Boccardo said that the people of Mexico are fearful and bewildered, but that he has strong hopes for an adjustment and compromise that would make possible the continuation of church work in Mexico.

SPEEJACKS II BACK

IN BOSTON HARBOR
After a cruise up the St. Lawrence to Montreal, the handsome schooner Pacific Speejack II is anchored in the harbor, with the ex-wife, A. Y. Gowan, of Cleveland, and his bride, who was Mrs. Marion Kelly Ellice Baker of Springfield, and a party of friends on board. It had been the intention to go through the Lake to Cleveland, but the plans were changed and the party returned to Boston, where she will remain several days.

2 U. S. SHIPS IN CHINA BATTLE

Shanghai, Sept. 10 (A.P.)—A telegram received here from Hankow says the American torpedo boat destroyers Stewart and Pope, which arrived at Hankow last Friday, are engaged in a battle with the Chinese fleet.

The dispatch added that two soldiers on the American boats were wounded. Another report received from Hankow says every foreign steamer entering or leaving port is made the target for the bullets of the Chinese soldiers. Several Japanese and British ships are declared to have been badly hit.

This State Is No. 4 on List of the Rich

Massachusetts is fourth in the list of States with millionaires, according to figures announced today. There are 418 men and women in this State with more than $1,000,000 to their credit. New York heads the list with 2,800 over the million mark. Pennsylvania is next with 1,950 and Illinois third with 936. North Dakota is the only State in the Union which cannot claim a millionaire.

BUTLER FALLS HEIR TO $35,000,000 ESTATE

San Francisco, Sept. 10 (A.P.)—Albert Butler, a writer here, told newspapers today he had received notification that he was one of the heirs to a $35,000,000 English estate left by the late Duke of Argyll. According to the servant's story, his father, the late John Brodie Butler, once a wealthy manufacturer of steam turbines, was the first citizen to the estate, but allowed his claim to elapse. The House of Commons in London recently reopened the estate voluntarily. Butler says, and he plans to return to England and claim the estate.

TAXES HIGHER IN SOMERVILLE

The Somerville tax rate for the coming year was announced today as $25.50 on the thousand, an increase of $2.10 over that of last year. The total valuation is set at $109,842,400. The increase in tax rate, according to Frederick B. Warren, chairman of the assessors, is due to expenses on the new traffic artery.

FORTUNE TELLING MAY BE ILLEGAL HERE

Crystal gazers, card readers and other impostors who attempt to tell the future for the gullible in this State will have to look elsewhere for business if a bill filed in the House today by Representative Frank W. Osborne of Lynn, 1 passed.

With the backing of police throughout the Commonwealth Representative Osborne's bill is aimed at fortune tellers who have misled the public of thousands of dollars for years. The bill will make any attempt to tell the future by the usual methods of fortune telling illegal in this State.

CONSTITUTION FUND IS NOW $230,418.53

A forward leap of great people was made in the fund for the preservation of the battle scarred Bunker Hill Monument when receipts of $104.38 were accounted for. This brings the fund to $230,418.53. Most of the money was received from the sale of sovereigns and periodicals.

She Bared Her Soul!

To the man whose kindly tolerance and sympathy have put thousands back on the road to happiness

AND she was but one of hundreds who have done the same—told secrets she would not tell her mother—or perhaps her husband—but in the confessional of the Judge's chambers she revealed all. Her story and the stories of scores of others—men as well as women—are now being retold for society's good by Judge Ben B. Lindsey in the most candid and startling series of articles ever published in any magazine. Reasoning from the stories of real life told him in court day after day, Judge Lindsey has reached certain conclusions, and now he boldly asks: "Is a new code of sex morals being created?" It is a startling question—but a question that has heretofore existed unasked in the minds of all intelligent men and women; and it is no more startling than the evidence that Judge Lindsey offers in his great series of articles entitled: "The Moral Revolt."

When you have read the first of the Judge's articles and considered it, turn a few pages of the same magazine and read the first article in another astonishing series in which the internationally famous beauty and social

Mrs. Philip Lydig Reveals Secrets of New York Society

ALMOST since girlhood, beautiful Mrs. Philip Lydig has been an unquestioned leader of New York's ultra-smart society. Now for the first time Mrs. Lydig proceeds to turn the spot-light on that society—telling in great detail why she finds it futile, false and corrupt. The statements she makes will astonish you—story after story of tragedies heretofore never publicly disclosed. If chronicles of the real lives of the prominently fashionable—heretofore known only to those on the inside of that group—are of interest to you, then you must read Mrs. Lydig's revealing article, "Marriage Without Love."

In these two remarkable series—the one by Mrs. Lydig, the other by Judge Lindsey—The Red Book Magazine for October inaugurates its new plan of adding the drama of Fact to the drama of Fiction—while latter is expressed by Rupert Hughes in his splendid novel, "We Live But Once," and by these other distinguished novelists and story-writers: Ruth Comfort Mitchell, James Francis Dwyer, Struthers Burt, Samuel Merwin, Leroy Scott, Thyra Samter Winslow, Robert Benchley, Wm. H. Osborne, Arthur K. Akers and Michael J. Phillips.

Holyoke, Sept. 10.—For the second time in about two months, Captain Charles L. Baupre of the State police, a former Holyoke boy, led raiding squads of State patrolmen in a cleanup of gambling slot machines throughout the city.

Forty-five officers including men from every barracks in the State, participated in the raid.

COOLIDGE HAS TIME TO FISH

Paul Smith's, N. Y., Sept. 10 (A.P.)—President Coolidge apparently plans to spend the last days of his vacation as he spent the first, according to a rumor, and recreation as possible into the intervals between his visits to the executive office.

His more house guests are expected and the Chief Executive will have opportunity to pass the week remaining before his departure for Washington in the seclusion which he maintained for a fortnight or more after his arrival.

Except for the usual Friday afternoon press conference, Coolidge was free to devote himself to the daily routine of government business or in a fishing trip with Attorney General John C. Bargar, who is spending a few days at the camp.

President Coolidge ordered the executive offices here and in Washington closed from 8 to 4 o'clock as a mark of respect to Arthur Brooks, a negro who for years was steward at the White House and died at the White House and whose funeral was set for that time in Washington.

HOTEL MEN PLAY BALL: DASH FOR LINIMENT

Who won the ball game was a moot question when the 300 members and guests of the Massachusetts Hotel Association returned from their annual outing along the North Shore. Only one thing was certain: most of the participants were anxious to get to the nearest drug store to purchase supplies of liniment for very sore muscles.

The ball game was the feature of the day's festivities which started with a buffet lunch at the Copsey Plaza, Boston, a drive along the North Shore, and horseback at the New Ocean House, Swampscott.

FIRE CAUSES ALARM AT SOMERVILLE HOSPITAL

The extent of a war at the Somerville Hospital, 1000 Broadway, near the Arlington line, today was made known to the citizens of the town by the alarm of the fire department. The fire was extinguished with little damage. Only three patients were in the building at the time of the fire.

In fighting the fire, firemen had to trample the gardens of the hospital. The fire was caused by a patient who was smoking a cigarette in the hospital.

Natacha Rambova's Film To Be Shown

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—The public is going to see "What Price Beauty," the exotic film made by Natacha Rambova, while she is still Mrs. Rudolph Valentino. It has already been released in England and will be shown in this country just as soon as Joseph Schenck can make the necessary arrangements.

Let some suspicious soul accuse United Artists of trying to capitalize on Rudolph Valentino's death, let me explain that Natacha Rambova spent over $300,000 of Valentino's money in producing this picture.

Some of the bills have never been paid and Joseph Schenck believes if he can release the film he can at least pay the money due on Natacha's film adventures.

S. George Ullman, executor of the late actor's will, explained that United Artists were releasing "What Price Beauty" to save the estate from paying the balance due on it.

In other words, he said his object now is to get as much revenue for Alberto Guglielmi, Maria Guglielmi, and Teresa Waser, beneficiaries of Valentino's will, as possible.

I JUST HAVE TO WHISPER a rumor that I heard. It is that Douglas Fairbanks is to make "Celluloid," the story which was to star Rudolph Valentino as his next picture.

In justice to Mr. Fairbanks and all concerned, I must state that this is not authentic but merely told me as an interesting piece of news. This means that Estelle Taylor will not move out of the Pickford-Fairbanks studio.

She was to have played in the Valentino picture and it is reasonable to assume that she will play the part of the duchess in Fairbanks' production—providing, of course, Doug really makes the picture.

$10,000 ASKED IN SEARS' SUIT

Really beaten, he charges, by Lawrence members of National Guard Company B, when he attempted to take moving pictures of auto races at the Rockingham Speedway, Salem, N. H., on July 8, Richard W. Sears, widely known newspaper photographer, asks $10,000 damages from the proprietors of the speedway in a suit filed in Suffolk County Court.

The Rockingham Motor Speedway Inc. is named as defendant. The hearing was administered, Sears charges, while he was making pictures at the invitation of the management.

The assault took place, according to the complaint, following an accident in which a car skidded into a guard rail and rolled down the track. The militia men, claiming to act under orders from park officials, forbade photographers from taking pictures of the crash.

Sears, who won a citation in the World War, and who is now on duty at Fort Ellen Allen with the C. M. T. Co., questions the right of Massachusetts soldiers to act as policemen outside the State.

An investigation of the alleged assault is being made by Adjutant General Stearns who delegated Major R. O. Dalton to go into the matter and make a complete report.

SERVICES MARK NEW YEAR

With deeply impressive religious ceremonies, the Jewish of Boston, with their followers all over the world, continued today to celebrate the arrival of the new year with the Jewish calendar. They will pay reverent homage to the new arrival until sundown.

During the celebration of the holiday, known as Rosh Hashanah, business cars were laid aside to devote two days to religious observances. In homes and temples, the 100,000 Jewish residents of the Hub met in worship as the old year faded before the new.

A Story of College Life; a Fast and Furious Romance

"Yvonne, you can't go," Jock exclaimed. "I must, my dear," she returned. (Photo by Charles G. Snyder.)

Jock Hamill, at a dance with Molly, who is in love with him, becomes cool. He is tired of her. She's too easy to kiss, he thinks. Molly goes home. Jock meets Yvonne Mountford. He falls in love with her at sight. Most beautiful girl he ever saw, is his verdict.

Jock is charmed when Yvonne refuses him a kiss. She gives him her address.

Mrs. Hamill, wife of Yvonne, picks from Jock his meeting with Yvonne. Jock is entertained by Yvonne. Jock returns to college.

Jock, at lunch with Yvonne, sees an imposing looking business man seat himself at the next table. Yvonne leaves him and talks with the man for some time. She makes no explanation when she returns.

Brad Hathaway asks Jock to take Eunice, his wife, to the football game. He doesn't like it, but agrees.

Yvonne cannot come to the football game. Brad asks him to take Eunice.

Bones Allen tells Jock what the college is saying of Eunice and he. Jock tells Yvonne he loves her.

Jock and Molly have a jolly row over Cecily. Cecily asks Jock how to be popular.

CHAPTER XVI

"And do you like the picture?" They were sitting close together on the divan. Yvonne's head against Jock's arm. He looked down at her, marveling. Her vivid hair, her face, those long gray eyes, those eyes...

"I thought, picture! There's nothing. It's like trying to photograph a sunset. You get the lines but not the story. It's like me when I try to express her in words. Colorless and dead. A picture or a post could do her justice, but not a camera-man nor a mute film like me."

He said, "There's beautiful phenomena of you."

"Which do you like best?"

Jock took one from the pile. "Yvonne."

Yvonne sighed, blushing at it. "I'm sure," he said, as though he spoke to no hearer. "The one that looks like you."

"Gilded," asserted Jock. "You talk as though you were old."

"And don't you think I am?"

"Gilded," asserted Jock. "You talk as though you were old."

"And how old are you, Jock Hamill?"

"Twenty-two."

She smiled dramatically. "How nice to be twenty-two."

Jock thought, "She's a year or two older. Perhaps twenty-four. She can't be any more than that."

He kissed her forehead, as though he kissed her forehead, as though he kissed her forehead.

Nuns Defend Modern "Jazz Girl"

'BLASE' AIR'S ONLY REEF

Sisters Contend Freedom and Inquisitiveness Make Flappers Better Mothers

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The modern girl, with all her devotion to jazz, her freedom and frankness, finds many defenders in the ranks of prominent educators among the Roman Catholic sisterhood. Dennis, regents and members of leading convents in the United States have been in South Bend attending the International Federation of Catholic Sisters. Several attended the graduation of the modern girl as also commensurate with her mother and grandmother.

The popularity of the "flapper" set down shows her real self during the immature period from childhood to womanhood, dreams and private in her, although, against her mother and grandmother.

The sisters rely on the Catholic training they give the girls and to guide them along the road to enlightenment after they are graduated.

STYLES AT FAULT.

Lack of home influence and sympathy and a leaning to school, local training in religion in the convents, for many years, has been responsible to a great extent for the moral breakdown and consequent delinquency. Extreme styles are detrimental to the development of the individual and also initiative, which is the life of the modern girl.

The bad influence of ultra-modern styles is not so much felt by the nuns as by those with whom she comes in contact.

Sister Mary Thomas, of the Dominican order, who has been in the convent for many years, said that she believed in the freedom of thought and action, but that she believed in the right of the individual to make her own choice.

One company, which has already initiated the movement, told the insurance commissioner that the rate of 1 1/2 cents a mile called for in the state schedule, would mean $400 a year for his firm. As the company has 250 machines, the total premium would run to $125,000 a year.

He declared the payment of such a rate would be prohibitive, he said, in excess of all the claims against the company within a period of five years.

It was pointed out to him that he could start a mutual company of his own with $50,000 in premiums stripped of technicalities, the insurance company would reduce the premium to about $200, and the business to the Catholic company, the one policy holder, would average around $100 a car.

Sisters Contend Freedom and Inquisitiveness Make Flappers Better Mothers

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 10 (A.P.).—The modern girl, with all her devotion to jazz, her freedom and frankness, finds many defenders in the ranks of prominent educators among the Roman Catholic sisterhood. Dennis, regents and members of leading convents in the United States have been in South Bend attending the International Federation of Catholic Sisters. Several attended the graduation of the modern girl as also commensurate with her mother and grandmother.

The popularity of the "flapper" set down shows her real self during the immature period from childhood to womanhood, dreams and private in her, although, against her mother and grandmother.

The sisters rely on the Catholic training they give the girls and to guide them along the road to enlightenment after they are graduated.

STYLES AT FAULT.

Lack of home influence and sympathy and a leaning to school, local training in religion in the convents, for many years, has been responsible to a great extent for the moral breakdown and consequent delinquency. Extreme styles are detrimental to the development of the individual and also initiative, which is the life of the modern girl.

The bad influence of ultra-modern styles is not so much felt by the nuns as by those with whom she comes in contact.

Sister Mary Thomas, of the Dominican order, who has been in the convent for many years, said that she believed in the freedom of thought and action, but that she believed in the right of the individual to make her own choice.

One company, which has already initiated the movement, told the insurance commissioner that the rate of 1 1/2 cents a mile called for in the state schedule, would mean $400 a year for his firm. As the company has 250 machines, the total premium would run to $125,000 a year.

He declared the payment of such a rate would be prohibitive, he said, in excess of all the claims against the company within a period of five years.

It was pointed out to him that he could start a mutual company of his own with $50,000 in premiums stripped of technicalities, the insurance company would reduce the premium to about $200, and the business to the Catholic company, the one policy holder, would average around $100 a car.

Dempsey Unable to Escape From Women, Says Kearns

JACK GOES TO EUROPE ON QUEST

English Royalty and Women of Paris Give Champion Great Reception Abroad

THE 18th to the 20th chapter of Jack Kearns' thrilling story in which he replies to the charges of Jack Dempsey.

By JACK KEARNS

WOMEN came and went in Dempsey's life, with great rapidity. Always the old restlessness was upon him. Beautiful creatures, some talented and others not, crossed his path in a never ending parade.

While we were playing in Boston, Dempsey met Jean Arker and they were very close friends. They were quite a lot. There didn't seem to be any great chance of their being together but one day they were together and never left.

The old boy who the day pays funny pranks and who might have been the only one. It wasn't so, it was thought. They were good friends. Ann Pennington was one of the beautifuls from the professional ranks who admired Dempsey and was courted by Jack. They, too, must be the rounds of the celebrities and while many came and went, Jack was hard hit. I didn't pay much attention to the girls.

They came and went before him, Betty Palmer, Blanche Savoy, Beulah Miller, Jane Allen, Barbara La Marr, Helen McKellar, Blanche Miller, Thelma Red, Ruth Holman, Babe Sedgwick, Boba Thelma, May Sanders, Edie Palmer, Wile, Thelma, Gladys, Mary, Nellie, Josie, Max, Beulah, Lucie, Deane, Martha Wilson, Jean Arker, Ann Pennington, Lorraine Thompson, Peggy Joyce, Mae West, Rita Tarnish, Rose Barn, Margaret Hoxworth and Ruth Duncan were some of the startling beauties that captivated before his eyes.

We left for a trip to Europe after a while and we made great preparations for the journey. The day the ship sailed you would have thought that Dempsey had sent out combined heavy choruses down to see the champion go to sea.

LONDON LINKS CHAMP. At Woods and the Dolly sisters were on board. Jack and Rosita Louie got a crash on each other, though I'll admit that competition was stirring all the time.

While in London, Dempsey proved that he could move like any social whirl and make good. He looked the part and he was at it all. He was in a drawing room as if he had been in the ring. With the blue bloods it was a lion's part.

He met royalty with the same boyish enthusiasm and may make him be met ordinary. He was the guest of the big Lord Dunsany, rare track the day following our arrival. He met the king and that, that Duke and that, they liked him.

The whole hands with the king who sat in the back seat of the car. It was the king's day, but I must say that Dempsey got a greater ovation than the first man of England.

Wally Ward gave us a blowout, as did Charles Collette, the Duke of York and his tutor being present at Collette's racket. Dempsey was the first American heavyweight champion to visit England since John L.

Sullivan's day, and England was quite excited about it. Love letters poured in on him and of course, Jack Hayes and myself saw that they were properly secured to the English winds. Women must ever understand that they can't reach a champion via the love initiative.

THOSE PARASITIC WOMEN. Every woman wanted to see the man who had crushed Georges and every woman seemed bent on taking him in her arms. Don't you think they would say the funniest thing I ever saw happened right in the main dining room of our hotel after Dempsey had won the title from Wilkes at Toledo. All eyes were on Dempsey of course.

Jack was just dinging into a nice cold meal and suddenly from some place in the room came a gorgeous creature. She was superb and individual and you can imagine Jack's surprise when she walked up to the table, grasped him in her two jeweled arms and, planted a resounding smack right on his lips.

"You dear, darling boy," she said with trembling voice and she was gone. We never saw or heard of her again.

SHARKEY SIGNS FOR BOUT WITH REVERBER

New York, Sept. 10.—Jack Sharkey, New England heavyweight champion, was today matched by Manager Johnny Buckley to meet Orlando Riverbert, heavyweight champion of Italy and light-heavyweight champion of South America, in a 12-round bout at Newark on Monday night.

Word from Boston is to the effect that Sharkey is in perfect physical condition as he was recently billed to meet George Godfrey and that bout was called off at the last minute.

Reverbert did not come here preceded by a glancing blow, but slipped in quietly and did not make his 164 until he had proven his wiles. Having scored four large victories, and having what was called a draw with Chickie Higgins in the home town of the rough and ready Mike, Reverbert now comes in the quiet and demands recognition. It is to get it and get it quickly.

Joe McMahon, matchmaker of Boston Aquatic Garden, has given the willing Italian first place among the prospective opponents for Sharkey. In person, Reverbert is a powerful, well-built, and is much improved with him and his style of fighting. He is seeking an aggressive man to tackle Person, and that is the chief stock in trade of Reverbert. He is always after his man, and under the management of Billy McCarthy.

LEW FONSECA WILL JOIN SPEAKER'S INDIANS TODAY

Lew Fonseca, in the National League for several seasons prior to this spring, has been purchased by Cleveland from the Newark club of the International League. The price is said to have run high into the five figures. Fonseca has been a batting and fielding star with Newark all season, playing second base. He played with the Cleveland Indians and Phillies. He will join the Indians today.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 10.—The local club has signed Jimmy Ionesco, a right-handed pitcher, who has been playing with the fast seniors team at Council Bluffs, Ia. It is said Cleveland will be the club for the pitcher's release. Ionesco formerly pitched in the Western League. He probably will be turned over to New Orleans.

GRADY ADKINS SOLD TO CHICAGO WHITE SOX

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 10.—Purchase of Pitcher Grady Adkins from the Shreveport Club of the Texas League has been announced by the Chicago American League Club. The purchase is said to be a big thing making good, the provision being that he will be returned to Shreveport if he fails. He is a right-handed pitcher and was in the Cotton States League before joining Shreveport two years ago.

DEL PRATT WILL MANAGE WACO CLUB NEXT SEASON

Waco, Tex., Sept. 10.—Del Pratt will manage the local club of the Texas League, again next season. A statement was forthcoming after a meeting of the board of directors at which Pratt was offered new terms and accepted. It is said he had had other offers to manage. It was also announced that Dewey Elliott, 25-year-old right-handed pitcher, had been sold to the Philadelphia National League Club for $10,000.

When the iron clubhead is placed at direct right angles back of the ball in the address the player may have a tendency to pull all his iron shots and especially is this true if he plays the ball well forward. If opening up the blade some in the address compensates a better shot. That is, if it doesn't look just right or if it makes you feel you are going to alter—then play the blade straight—the direction line, but play the ball a few inches farther back. At the same time be sure to hit out—so the blade goes through the ball. Then practice from your feet to play the blade in the slightly opened position and gradually get the ball more forward, off the left foot. All ways hit from the inside out. Copyright 1926 P. Staging New Styles for Fall

"As You Like It"
Act II Scene VII

Three hundred and thirty-one years ago Shakespeare said "ALL THE WORLD'S A STAGE, AND ALL THE MEN AND WOMEN MERELY PLAYERS".

Today I'm going to make a stage of every window in every city in U. S. A. where I have a store.

But the largest Stage in the world isn't large enough for the largest hatter in the world to show all the Styles, Shapes and Colors which we've produced to please all the "Players" in the world...

And Shakespeare says you're one of the "players".

I've had more than 50,000 hats in one store, but I couldn't show more than 50 in the window.

So if you don't happen to see what you want in the window, I hope you'll come in and let us show you the style that you want in the store.

And when you come in, you'll find something more than Style and Quality at $3.50 and $5.00.

You'll find the kind of Service in a Truly Warner Store that you expect to get in other stores where you pay twice as much.

I know it's hard to get out of the habit of paying more, because it's difficult to believe we can produce these Values at this Price. All the other hat men wonder how we can continue to do it.

When you leave the store, you can walk out with the assurance that if the hat you have on doesn't make good, we will.

We've got more than a million satisfied customers, and we feel confident we can satisfy you.

Fitton Field Too Small to Hanele Crowd

By J. B. GILLOULT

There is a strong possibility that the B. C.-H. C. clash, which was suddenly shifted to Worcester the past week, will be played in Boston on either Braves Field or Fenway Park. It was learned today through reliable sources.

The authorities at the Jesuit college are convinced that the newly erected stadium at Fitton Field, Worcester, could never accommodate the crowds that are bound to turn out to witness this struggle. They are now dickering with the magnates at the local ball yards and promise a definite decision by the end of the week. This is Boston College's home year and the student body at the Heights do not wish being deprived of this football treat. These business difficulties, however, did not lessen the activities at the Heights. The squads went through the daily routine with plenty of vim, vigor and vitality. Every corner of Alumni Field was littered with red jerseys, heavily engaged in various forms of conditioning. Weirson and Cramie hosted

Cohasset, Sept. 10.—The Quisset Yacht Club near Wood's Hole, Pine Point Yacht Club of Marblehead, Annapolis Yacht Club of Cape Ann, and the second Duxbury and Cohasset crews fight it out this morning for the place in the finals of the Massachusetts women's sailing championship for the Mrs. C. J. Adams cup, to be sailed in the afternoon. In the semi-finals, Quisset will sail against Pine and Annapolis will meet the winner of the Duxbury-Cohasset contest. The first match of the second day was the Quisset-Corinthian affair. The surprise of the day was the defeat of Manchester by Annapolis in straight races. BIG TEN COACHES HOLD POW-WOW SATURDAY Chicago, Sept. 10 (A.P.)—Officials and coaches of the Big Ten will meet here Saturday in a closed session, according to announcement by Major J. Tex Rickard Sells $1,100,000 Worth of Ducats for Big Duel

By RAY CAMPBELL

Stoudsburg, Pa., Sept. 10.—One million one hundred thousand dollars had been paid to Tex Rickard on Wednesday, more than two weeks before the contest, for tickets for the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney heavyweight championship contest, according to Billy Gibson, manager of Tunney. Gibson declared that the promoter of the Bicentennial fight had deposited that amount to his credit in a Philadelphia bank on Wednesday and, in addition, had sold about a quarter of a million dollars' worth of tickets for which he had not, at that time, been paid. Gibson believes every seat in the stadium, and there are to be 140,000 of them, will be sold by next Wednesday, barring of course the general admission seats, which will not go on sale until the day of the fight.

VETS IN CRUCIAL BALL GAME

A crucial baseball game is to be played at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital grounds, West Roxbury, Mass., tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, to which the general public is cordially invited. The patients at West Roxbury hospital will face the patients of U. S. Veterans' Hospital, Northampton, Mass., the deciding game for the loving cup which has been put up for the team winning two out of three games. A great deal of interest is being manifested in this deciding game, and a large delegation from Northampton is expected. A band will furnish music during the game.

Salem Grid Team to Play G. E. Tomorrow

By EDDIE DONDERO

Prior to the official opening of the school football season next Saturday, Bill Dondero's Salem High eleven meet the Lynn General Electric School outfit tomorrow in an abbreviated edition at Intraco Field, Salem. This was made a reality owing to the American Legion celebration and parade in the Witch City. The school's activities have agreed to start the contest at 3 o'clock, shortening the periods and limiting intermission between the halves. Fred Lorenford's Lynites arrived today, asserting their summer training quarters. They will answer the call of the referee's whistle as the "Unknowns" as far as the inhabitants are concerned. The Salem lineup follows: Kenney, P.; Sullivan, P.L.; Bonah, P.G.; McVinton, C.; M. Lee, I.G.; Egan, I.C.; Murphy, I.C.; Dillmore, G.B.; Caplain, Antoszewski, I.H.B.; Sheridan, R.H.B.; Harrington, P.H. The line is uncertain, but the backfield quartet is one that ranks high above the boys. Lawrence Dillmore, who calls the signals, must be covered or Lynn will never gain possession of the leather oval.

Men have certainly made their preference clear!

REMEMBER just a few years back you saw but few Chesterfields?

Mighty different today! You see them everywhere! But it's not that fact, but the reason, that's the interesting thing.

Natural tobacco taste—a taste secured by matching one fine variety against another, a taste which retains tobacco character—that's why Chesterfield is America's fastest-growing cigarette, and has been for four consecutive years. Not much doubt nowadays about what smokers want!

THE SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By Helen Rowland

ALL my daughter, who is so unaligned, who is so long suffering, who is so pitiable as a "misunderstood wife!" but a mis-understood husband is as a St. Anthony in the midst of a Beu-

Chorus! His days are full of temptation! Behold, in his mirror, he perceives himself to be a Thing of Beauty. And therefore should he hide his last under a bushel of domestic-ties with some and merriment. Yet, his wife cannot understand why he requests slumber in the middle name "Symphony".

Whereas, he goes, temple follow after him, all his wife can understand why he is not more selfish at shelling them; nor why he persists in taking their telephone numbers and calling them by name. She is so unreasonable!

Verily, verily, his life is full of dullness and self-sacrifice, and his days are full of what all his wife hopes are slipped, and all his aspirations thwarted!

YESTERDAY I was showing Ma how much I cut X-pand my arms getting more & more like your deer father every day.

How do you mean? I said. Your deer father is forever throwing out his chair, said Ma, & now you seem to have caught the fever.

I won't do it if you don't like it, Ma. I said, only your teacher and that we should breathe deep, I said. It is all right to breathe deep, Bobbie, said Ma, but be quiet about it, and Ma don't boast & brag about your chest X-pand, said Ma, keep all about your good points, Bobbie, said Ma, that is between you & all girls men hat had lots of love-mill.

Three Minute Journeys

By TEMPLE MANNING—

THE African desert is full of many different tribes and races of people. Although many of them resemble each other there are tribes that have no relation to any other desert people. Among these are the Felle, a tribe that inhabits that region known as Zinder.

The Felle are a fierce tribe, probably related to people inhabiting more central regions of Africa. Many of their customs are very similar to those practiced by the same tribes of the Fertile.

One of their rites, which makes the relationship seem more probable, is that called "Plegation". This is an ordeal that must be undergone by every youth of the Felle tribe before he may undertake any of the responsibilities of maturity, and be called a man.

All the people of the neighborhood gather for the ceremony, and there is a great feasting and dancing. Then, suddenly, a group of women separate themselves from the throng, and advance to the center of the ring, where, to the rhythmic beat of the tom-tom, they sing in a new and unusual way. The young men who are to undergo the ordeal then approach, stripped to the waist. The old men are in charge, and it is the business of one to strike
